Students will be assessed every session at Internexus Los Angeles. Placement Test: On the first day, students will take a test to determine their English level. These tests consist of the Michigan Placement Test (including grammar, reading and vocabulary, listening), a writing test, and an oral interview. The scores requirements and level placement are given below.¶

G=Grammar; R=Reading; W=Writing; L/S=Listening/Speaking¶

Achievement Tests: At the end of each session (one month), students will take achievement tests in each classe. Scores on these tests will show if students understand the things the teacher taught in that session.¶

Classwork: Daily work in classes will also determine if students are successful in learning the skills teachers have taught them. Classwork examples include homework that will be graded, quizzes, and presentations. Classwork and achievement test results will help us determine students' readiness to progress to the next level at the end of the term.¶

Grades:¶

Students will have grades from teachers for each class at the end of each session on a grade report. This report can also be sent to your home, school or college if students would like. In each class, students' grades are based on classwork (70%) and achievement tests (30%). N.B. 32

ACADEMIC PROBATION¶

Students must maintain a satisfactory level of academic performance. At our school this means achieving an overall score of 60% or above at the midterm and final of each quarter. If at the midterm or final of a quarter a student fails to have an overall score of 60% or higher, we need to take the following steps:¶

1. The teacher should have a meeting with the student to discuss why he or she is having trouble in the class. The teacher and student should fill out and sign a Notice of Concern to document the meeting and the plan of action that they intend to take.¶

2. Based upon the information gathered in the meeting, the teacher and the¶ student should work to create an individualized study plan to help the student improve his or her weaker skills. The teacher can also attempt to design some evaluation methods that may better reflect the strengths of the student. The plan of action from the Notice of Concern should outline the individualized studyplan and/or the evaluation methods.¶

3. If by the next midterm or final the student demonstrates that he or she is making progress by achieving an overall score of 60% or above, then the teacher should continue to monitor and encourage the student but no formal probation is necessary.¶

4. If by the next midterm or final the student cannot demonstrate that he or¶ she is making progress by achieving an overall score of 60% or above, then we need to put the student on Academic Probation. However, if it is determined that Internexus Los Angeles does not offer a course that is suitable for the level of the student who is not maintaining a satisfactory level of academic performance, we may suggest that the student transfer to a school that does offer such a course.¶

When a student is placed on academic probation, the student, the teacher, and the director will sign the probation form. Students will have until the next midterm or final to show that they are making progress in the class by achieving an overall score of 60% or above¶

If by the next midterm or final a student has not achieved an overall score of 60%, we will be forced to cancel their I-20.¶

Appealing Probation: Students may appeal their probation. Students must submit a written request for appeal within one week of receiving their probation notice. The director will review the appeal and request supporting documentation if needed. The director will then refer the appeal to the review committee (consisting of the Head Teacher, Office Manager, and Owner). If any member of the review committee is directly involved in the issuing of the probation, he or she will be removed from the committee and replaced by a staff member not involved with the issuing of the probation. The review committee will respond to the appeal within 5 business days of receiving the written request for appeal and any required supporting documentation.¶

In particular, drugs are not permitted at school and drug-related incidents will be reported to the authorities. The director can provide information regarding drug awareness and counseling. ¶

In cases of unacceptable student conduct, and at the discretion of the director, a student may be placed on probation and given an opportunity to demonstrate a change of conduct. Internexus Language Proficiency Description¶

Beginning¶

(Minimum 18 clock hours per week)¶

Communication Tasks:¶

Students build the basic elements of the language to interact in situations connected to their personal life—daily routines, leisure activities, future plans and past activities.¶

Students can give basic information about themselves, their family, education, work, and their hometown. Students can give personal information (name, address, phone number) in situations like calling for a pizza delivery, getting a video rental/library card, or filling out a registration/application form. Students can express preferences related¶ to leisure activities, eating, and shopping. They can ask for information and ask for clarification. They can ask for and give simple directions. They can create one-adjective descriptions (the weather is hot, lunch was delicious, she’s pretty).¶

Students can understand simple written instructions (how to use a pay phone), signs and ads, and children’s books for native speakers. They have obtained vocabulary related to everyday living (food, transportation, family, jobs, and school).¶

Students can fill out simple forms; write checks, lists, short emails, and personal letters; and produce paragraphs about personal information.¶

Students can respond appropriately and use and understand basic courtesy formulas (thank you, sorry, excuse me) in simple social interactions, such as greeting, leave taking, and introducing.¶

Contexts and Conditions:¶

Students are successful within contexts that are predictable, familiar, and with visual cues that strongly support the task (for example, pictures on a menu). In interactions with native speakers, students often rely on gestures and facial expressions. Comprehension requires short, simple sentences, spoken slowly and clearly, with repetition. They rely heavily¶ on translation from their first language and so, use a¶ bilingual dictionary. Students tend to write simple sentences with few or no connectors. Written work length is one or two paragraphs. They have more accuracy when using set phrases than when required to transfer rules to new contexts. Their oral production is often slowed by their tendency to translate from their first language and by their limited vocabulary.¶

Corresponding Examination Scores:¶

University of London Exam-Level 1¶

TOEIC 200-300, Level D¶

Pre-Intermediate¶

(Minimum 18 clock hours per week)¶

Communication Tasks:¶

Students start to talk about relationships between personal aspects and the world where they live, sharing viewpoints, experiences and concerns; talking about possibilities and plans; comparing people and places; advising and instructing.¶

Students can talk about their experiences and ideas in the present and past (I think, I used to...). They can relate short narratives both orally and in writing about past experiences (I went to a public school...).

They can make plans and arrangements over the phone or face-to-face (Would you like to go to a movie Saturday? What time can we meet?). They can make suggestions and give advice (Maybe you should try the other restaurant).

Students can understand written instructions (simple recipe), short popular magazine articles, and literature for elementary age native speakers. They have obtained vocabulary related to everyday life (shopping, cooking, leisure activities, and friends). Short essay organization is developing. They can support and expand their ideas in writing.

Students can respond appropriately in various social interactions, such as apologizing, making an excuse, expressing disappointment or worry, giving and responding to compliments.

Contexts and Conditions:

Students are successful in contexts that are familiar and which strongly support the task. In interactions with native speakers, students' comprehension often requires slow, clear speech with repetition.

Students are beginning to vary sentence length and complexity and use connectors. Written work length is 2 to 3 paragraphs. They continue to rely somewhat on translation from their first language and use a bilingual dictionary. They still tend to have more accuracy when using set phrases than when required to transfer rules to new contexts.

TOEFL 310-350 (paper-based), 40-63 (computer-based) TOEIC 300-500, Level C

Intermediate

(Minimum 18 clock hours per week)

Communication Tasks:

Students develop their fluency while expressing ideas, establishing hypotheses and defending viewpoints. They can compare, agree and disagree politely, and summarize information. Students can establish time relationships clearly.

Students can give instructions and directions (Meet me on the second floor of the library at 4:00, or I live three blocks away from downtown). They can report speech (She said, "I really want to go to Tokyo," or He asked me if I wanted to study Spanish). They can ask for recommendations and advice (Which color looks better? or Do you think it's a good school for law?). Students can give 5-minute presentations in class.

Students can understand popular magazine articles, short newspaper articles, and literature for young native speakers. They have obtained vocabulary related to travel, academics, social issues, and the workplace. Students can write short articles, short essays, faxes and business letters.

Students can respond appropriately in various social interactions, including expressing hope, regret, and sympathy.¶

Contexts and Conditions:¶

Students are successful in contexts which are familiar, however they are less reliant on visual cues (for example, they are more comfortable using the telephone). In interactions with native speakers, students' comprehension requires clear, non-colloquial speech, with occasional clarification. Students can write and speak with some fluency, sometimes with limited accuracy. Written work length is up to 2 pages (400 words). They are less reliant on translation and able to mainly use a monolingual dictionary. They are often successful transferring rules to new contexts. However, they tend to make overgeneralization errors as they acquire these new structures.¶

They may need occasional repetition or clarification. They tend to have trouble with the complex verb tenses and language features which are “exceptions” or “irregular.” They still make errors related to native language interference. Written work length is 3 to 4 pages (600-800 words).¶
